

THE BOURBON NEWS.

SEMI-WEEKLY.

VOL. II.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: TUESDAY, JUNE 12, 1883.

NO. 135.

Prof. R. H. Keyes, principal of the Carlisle Seminary, has assigned to Henry Fritts, for the benefit of his creditors.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give a carpet-ball entertainment with refreshments on the evening of June 21st.

MAYOR PURNELL extends a cordial invitation to all of the soldiers of 1812 to be entertained by the city, on the 18th inst.

JOHN FREY has bought and is renovating the old stone Murphy store-room on Front street, Carlisle. Price paid, $3,500.

BRENT HUTCHCRAFT is erecting a large new hemp and seed warehouse on Main Cross street, near the Jos. Porter residence.

The Fleming Circuit Court sent up five colored persons to the penitentiary last week, for a term of two years each, for grand larceny.

The coronation of the constables in the various precincts of the county took place last week. No dynamite was indulged in so far as we have heard.

There were 155 marriages in Harrison county the past year—113 white and 42 colored couples. The births numbered 259 and the deaths 62.

Hon. Martin P. Marshall, ex-Representative of Mason county, died at his home near Maysville, Saturday. He was a nephew of the late Chief Justice Marshall.

The News office is in receipt of 10,000 bill-heads of all sizes, statements, cards and other stock in abundance. All job work neatly, cheaply and quickly executed.

The road-bed iron, depots and side-tracks of the Knoxville Extension from London to Jellico, the State line, cost $2,000,000. There are twenty-five bridges between the two points.

The Court of Appeals through Judge Hines, rendered an opinion in the Craft case Saturday, and sustained the decision of the lower court. He cannot hang before sixty days from rendering the decision.

THOS. HARNEY, a young man aged about twenty, who was stealing a ride on top of a passenger coach of the K. C. railroad, was knocked off by an overhead bridge on 15th street, Covington, and killed Saturday.

"DIRTY" MILLER, 16 years-old son of the grocer on Georgetown street, burst a door down with a hatchet Friday afternoon and tried to kill his father, mother and sister. He was arrested and placed in jail, by the marshal.

WILLIAM BROPHY, a respected old Irish farmer, was drowned in Stony Creek, three miles this side of the Blue Licks, while trying to ford it Sunday afternoon during a rapid rise of the creek. A small boy who rode behind him, was saved by clinging to the branches of a willow tree.

On Saturday at about 11 o'clock, John Harvey Myers, conductor of a construction train, fell from his train a distance of fifty feet off Townsend bridge, and broke one arm and was perhaps otherwise fatally injured. The supposition is that some heavy timbers struck him while unloading some heavy stones for abutments.

The City Council of Lexington has passed a resolution ordering the erection of an additional school house for the colored children, at a cost of $3,000. Steps are also being taken by the citizens for the erection of another college at a cost of $7,000. It is estimated that 4,000 scholars attended the various colleges there last year.

ASA MCGINNIS was showing Ben Huffman how a pistol revolved at Centerville Friday afternoon last, and the usual result followed. The bullet struck Huffman through the right eye and killed him instantly. Both were grown white men; McGinnis formerly of Tennessee, and Huffman a native Kentuckian. Huffman leaves a wife and two children. The sad affair was purely accidental.

W. W. GILL, the good natured groceryman whom Peck's bad boy plays so many pranks on, says that the BOURBON NEWS put down the price of strawberries to 10 cents a quart by a recent publication, but he accepted the situation without a word, and sells all he can get at that price, hit or miss. Fine cherries all at the same price. He allows no fruits or other goods to grow old on his hands.

MERRITT WILLIAMS, an aged colored man from Claysville, stopped under a tall oak tree near Bethlehem church to evade a shower of rain Saturday, about 11 o'clock, when a stroke of lightning ran down the tree and killed him. Owing to the ignorance of the people regarding the law and coroner's duties, the dead body was allowed to remain in the field until late in the afternoon before it was removed.

Rev. G. T. Gould's Tribulations.

Friday afternoon, Rev. G. T. Gould, Prof. Bristow and Prof. Corrington, of the Millersburg Female College, boarded the train for Lexington, having in charge about forty or fifty young ladies of the college, en route for Versailles, where they were to give an exhibition that night. The cars were crowded, of course. The Rev. Elisha Green, an aged colored minister, of Maysville, who was en route for this place to preach Sunday, says that he was abruptly approached by two strangers who ordered him out of the seat, and at the same time took hold of him to drag him out. At this time another man came up and pounded him over the head several times with a heavy brass-bound valise, while the other two held him. He says that he made no resistance other than to throw up his hands to ward off the blows with the valise, and exhibited cuts on the fingers and hands as the result of the strokes with the valise. The News also interviewed Col. Bob Morrow, Government Store-keeper, of this city, who corroborates Rev. Green, and states that he arose from a seat behind Rev. Green, and offered it to the Rev. Gould, who declined the acceptance of it, by remarking "No, I thank you, I don't want that seat, but I'm going to have that one, and he's got to get out of here," at the same time, in company with Prof. Corrington, approached Rev. Green and took hold of him to drag him out of his seat. At this time Prof. Bristow came up with a heavy leather brass-bound valise in hand and proceeded to strike the Rev. Green over the head with it until conductor Johnnie Martin came in and put a stop to it. Col. Morrow and others also state that Prof. Corrington attempted to draw a pistol, and that he admonished him to desist, and he didn't draw it. Another eye-witness also states that Prof. Bristow attempted to open his valise in an excited and demonstrative manner as if to get a pistol, but didn't open it.

On interviewing Rev. Green, he said that if he had been asked politely to vacate the seat, that he would have done so at once, but that he did not feel it his duty to give it up by a demand made in a threatening manner. He stated to the News that it was his intention to have the parties arraigned here on the charge of assault and battery, but as no warrants have been issued at this time, it is now understood from good authority, that warrants will be issued by a United States Commissioner, and that the case will be called in the United States Court in Covington, the complainant alleging that he cannot get justice in a civil court at home.

From statements made by different eye-witnesses to the affair who are residents of this city, public opinion by a large majority denounces the conduct of the three professors towards the old colored minister, while too, there are many considerate men who claim that ordinary politeness should have prompted the Rev. Green to have voluntarily risen and offered his seat to the ladies standing in the aisle, and thereby saved the undue wrath, which, by his own actions, had precipitated upon himself.

We have given the facts as given from the complainant's standpoint, and have had no opportunity of an interview with either of the professors or their immediate friends, save with James Payne, of Millersburg, who says that he came through the car when the fight was in progress, and that the Rev. Green drew back his fist to strike him, when he threatened to shoot him if he did.

We understand from good authority that several of the leading men of money and influence of Maysville, of both the Democratic and Republican parties, have offered to back the Rev. Green financially, and that a lawyer of prominence has volunteered his services to prosecute his assailants in the United States Court at Covington.

In an interview with conductor Martin, he states that Rev. Gould demanded of him the removal of Rev. Green from the seat, but he declined doing so, stating that he was a quiet and inoffensive old preacher who had paid for his seat, and that he had no right to force him to give it up. And that as soon as he passed on to gather up the tickets, the difficulty took place as related above.

Rev. Green says that in the melee, he didn't forget that he was a preacher, but the Rev. Gould did.

LATER—Since the above has been placed in type, warrants have been issued by Judge Turney, and constable James Taylor arrested the Rev. Gould and Professors Bristow and Corrington at Millersburg yesterday afternoon, who gave bonds in the sum of $100 each. Their examination will take place here.

The operetta cantata "Too Soon," will be rendered by the young ladies of the Bourbon Female College at the Opera House to-day. Admission, 25 cents. Commencement exercises at the "Christian church Wednesday morning.

SCINTILLATIONS.

—Commencement hop at Cynthiana, to-morrow night.

—Forty-two different colors and shades appear in the new spring gloves.

Gold thistles and gold burrs are the latest millinery and hair ornaments.

—Judge Breck, of Richmond, and candidate for District Judge, is in town.

Plain skirts worn under plain fabric polonaises and overdresses are in high favor.

—The loveliest shades of salmon, rose, corn-blue and water-green are seen in the new China crapes.

—Felix Barbee, ex-printer, of Cynthiana, has gone to Catlettsburg to take charge of the Democrat.

—Abe Buford says that his reason for leaving the Christian Church is that the church had no pedigree.

—If it takes three pints of strawberries to make a quart, how many berries does it take to fill up three editors?

—Mrs. Walter H. Davis, of Harrodsburg, will return to Georgetown and make her home with her mother.

—The marriage of David Wood, of Bardstown, to Miss Mollie Connor, of Owensville, has been recently consummated.

—Lexington girls now wear straw hats about the size of a cart wheel. They are trimmed with seven yards of ribbon a foot wide.

—In boiling meat for soup, use cold water to extract the juices. If the meat is wanted for itself alone, plunge in boiling water at once.

—James B. Clark and bride, of Plum Lick, have returned from a two weeks tour from Indiana and taking in the Mammoth Cave in the tour.

—Wm. Metcalf, an old bachelor near Moorefield, got excited and ran away and married a Miss Webb, of Bath county, in Aberdeen, last week.

—Elder Taylor Sharrard, of this city, has been appointed State Evangelist of Colorado, for the Christian Church, and will leave in a few days to accept the appointment.

—Mrs. Dr. E. W. Martin, of Cynthiana, has accepted the position of music teacher at the North Middletown College for next year, and will send her two daughters to school there.

—Snake bites are said to cause the death of 20,000 people in India, during some years. The great American antidote for snake bites kills more people than that, every year, in this country.

Bishop Kavanaugh failed to preach Sunday but preached yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. He was called away by the death of an old friend whose funeral he had promised to preach eight years ago.

—The daughter of general Buckner will be married Thursday, to Mr. Morris Belknap. The marriage will be what is termed a rainbow wedding. The bridesmaids in couples will wear the prismatic colors, each pair having a different hue of India silk.

—A St. Louis servant who was preparing to get married, put on a great deal and complained that she was so timid that she feared she couldn't stand up to go through with the ceremony. Her mistress cut her short by saying: "Don't make such a fuss now Mollie. You know there's nothing new about it but the supper."

—"Doc" Witherby, formerly of this city, but now in a general merchandise store with his uncle in San Diego, California, can walk Spanish but can't talk it. A few mornings ago while all of the other clerks were at breakfast, a Spaniard walked in and called for something in his native tongue, and "Doc" showed him everything in the house before he struck on the right article. It was starch that was wanted.

A HORSE ran over and severely injured an eight-year-old son of W. A. Parrish, near Cynthiana, Saturday.

Is refutation of a special dispatch from Lexington to the Cincinnati Enquirer last Friday, in which it was alleged that Thos. Crockett purchased and deeded a $4,000 cottage to her, Miss Lizzie Hoover publishes the following card:

"The whole statement contained in the Enquirer of the 8th is a lie of the whole cloth, and is calculated to do me an irreparable injury, not only in this community, but in others where I am known. The house is not mine, nor was it deeded to me by Mr. Thomas G. Crockett. He had nothing to do with the purchase of the house in any way, and all such assertions and rumors to that effect are willful and malicious lies. The Lexington 'Gazette' seems to be under this impression, and he must be quick to find his Romeos, for he must positively produce them at an early day."

MISS L. HOOVER.

Charles S. Mayers, 427 W. Madison street, Louisville, says: "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters with the best of results for indigestion."

MILLERSBURG.

Tom Wade sold a car-load of cattle at 5 cents, and a car load of lambs at 5 cts.

Commencement hop here to-night. Seidensticker's band, of Cincinnati, will furnish the music.

The closing exercises, of Miss Sallie McIntyre's school consisting of speeches and dialogues were very enjoyable.

Jake Hughes the bicyclist caused Henry Jefferson's horse to run off with his buggy. Fortunately no serious damages.

Rev. J. N. Currant, will deliver the oration before the Alumni Association of the Kentucky Wesleyan College here to-night.

Our reporter was mistaken when he reported four young Carlisle gentlemen misbehaving in Church, as the young men flatly deny the charge—also, several Millersburg boys who were present, sustain them in their innocence.—[Ed.]

Harry Orr, formerly of this town, in company with Geo. Higgins and Joe Finley, of Georgetown, hunted squirrels just as hard as harvest hands all of one day last week, and brought in one rabbit and two sap-suckers at night.

Alf. Bassett is the lad whom Rev. G. T. Gould calls a fool and ass, for writing the very enthusiastic and oft-repeated epistle in the Kentuckian, in defense of ladies of college against an imaginary accusation for noisiness at the Blue Licks.

The young ladies of Millersburg Female School will give a concert at Versailles to-night. Dr. Gould, the Principal, seems to have made a traveling troupe out of his school, they having performed at several places already.—[Jessamine Journal.]

Riley Howse, of Nicholas, was taken up at lightning velocity, on offering Col. David Judy $50 for an old barren jennett, last week. Riley is now on the big stool of repentance for the rash act, and will henceforth be afraid to open his mouth to Col. Judy, except to ask him for tobacco.

It was a half interest in a ranche consisting of over 300,000 acres that Alex. McClintock and Mr. Johnson of Illinois recently bought in New Mexico. There are now but five stockholders in it, of which Elder Taylor Sharrard, of Paris, is one. He is not an equal stockholder, but possesses a positive interest as commission given him by the Snyder Bros., who were the original owners of the tract, for furnishing the buyers for the half interest. Elder S. calculates that his share will be worth $10,000 or more to him in a very short time. This is to some extent, owing to the outcome of the ranche after being stocked. Several thousand cows and heifers are now being bought for it.

The indignation and wrath of the good people of Millersburg has been aroused against the negro element of this place and justly as will be seen. Saturday evening at 9 o'clock, Marshall Cargyle was going on his last round for the night; on this round he blows out the street lamps. Just as he was in the act of blowing out the lamp at the corner of Collier & Dodson's lumber yard, the flash of a shot-gun or musket was seen and heard, also one scream as of one in agony. In a second twenty or twenty-five citizens were on the spot, but it was over; Marshall Cargyle had been shot with buck-shot—four balls penetrating the body, 2 in the small of the back, and two in the arm. Your correspondent saw him Sunday evening when he was resting very well. The Drs. say there is everything in favor of his recovery. $200 reward offered by the citizens for any information of the bloody assassin. The act is supposed to have been that of some member of the colored fraternity, in revenge for the killing of Oscar Pollock, an obstreperous colored individual, a short time ago.
